Editor's Notes

Brian Miller - Editor

This issue we have our usual President's article and our ONA News updates but we also have an article from James Collins about our new website! Be sure to check out that article and we also have a submission from Ron Burkard on Bolivian Proclamation Coins. He had given us his presentation on these coins at our coin club meeting and it was very educational and entertaining! As always, if any of you have any articles or content you would like to share with us and have your article printed in the newsletter, just email me your article. I will be sure to add it to an upcoming issue. If you have any pictures you would like to use, please send those to me in a separate attachment than your article.

I was able to make a trip to Enid for the coin show a couple weeks ago. I went to the show for a couple of reasons. One, my daughter goes to college there and plays on the softball team, so it gave me an excuse to visit her and take her to lunch. Two, one of my co-workers had a collection of common date Morgans (around 15) or so that she wanted me to sell while the price of silver was hot. Third, I had to buy some giveaway items for the Oklahoma City Coin Club. And Lastly, I was looking for a couple coins for myself to add to my collection. I was mostly looking for an 1892-O Barber half but I was still unable to find one for sale. The second coin I was looking for was a high grade capped bust quarter for my 7070 type set. I was able to pick up one of those - it was a very nice 1836. I will have to bring it to show and tell at the next OKC coin club meeting.

I am still looking for a higher grade Trade dollar and a seated liberty dollar for the type set to be completed. I think this might be the year!

We have a couple of vacancies in the ONA that I need to bring to your attention. Tyler Tyson has stepped down as the Oklahoma City representative. We also still do not have a Southeast Oklahoma representative. If anyone is interested in serving the ONA in that capacity, please contact Tim Okeefe or Raven Goyer. Their contact information is included on the inside cover of this issue.

Hope to see you at an upcoming coin show!!

ONA News

By Tim O'Keefe

Spring is finally here and we have more daylight to enjoy. Along with the time change we have more coin shows popping up in the region. Gold and silver spiked in early February but have somewhat receded. All of the sources I have read are confident both will come back within the next few weeks and stay high for some time.

Speaking of the shows, the recently formed Claremore Coin Club held their first show on March 20-21 at their local American Legion Post. As a first -year show, they started out small. However, foot traffic was brisk over the two day event with about 380 folks through the door. There were a lot of "tire kickers" as many people had never actually been to a coin show. Dealers advised me that they had purchased a few local collections and the room was full for the majority of the show. Their organizers did a great job of getting the word out, creating signs, flyers, and getting an interview with the local newspaper, The Claremore Progress. The desk people also did some positive recruiting for the club. Things look very positive for next year's show.

As our President has noted in his column, we are foregoing the Spring ONA Show this year. Some unforeseen hurdles popped up and we felt the best way to serve the ONA was to have only a single show in 2026. The Fall 2026 ONA Show will be a two day event at the Glenpool Conference Center August 28-29. Applications are on Coin.Zip if you wish to set up. Our plan for 2027 is to return to the Oklahoma City Fairgrounds and reclaim our former dates during the first week in May. Mint Luster will keep you up to date.

I want to thank James Collins for stepping up and revamping the ONA Facebook page. Internet exposure helps us expand the hobby, along with Club attendance. He has posted about the Oklahoma City Club (which as has its own Facebook page now) along with Eastern Oklahoma club meetings and times. The OKC Club now meets twice a month-once in OKC and again at Moore. Check out their page.

Please stay up to date on your dues. I had to cancel the subscription for 25 members for this issue for non-payment. If someone you know did not receive this latest issue, have them contact me so we can get caught up. Printing and mailing fees have risen sharply and I want to be a good steward of your money.

We are always looking for written contributions from the membership. The ONA has a wealth of numismatic information spread around the country. Do not be bashful and share what you know with the rest of us. Submissions may be made to Editor Brian Miller.

Check this issue for upcoming shows in Oklahoma. It's a good time to be a coin collector.

Letter From the President

By Raven Goyer

I hope 2026 is treating you well. It's been a great year for coin shows! I hope you all have been able to get some great Numismatic pieces added to your collections. However, I have to announce that unfortunately, we will not be able to have a Spring ONA coin show in Oklahoma City this year. The original Bourse Chairman Bill Norfleet stepped away from his commitment and unfortunately, we didn't have enough time to find a new venue and Bourse Chairman with such short notice from Bill Norfleet. But we have some positive news to share. Mike Boyer (lifetime ONA member) is taking over as Bourse Chairman for ONA for both shows next year. Mike has some great ideas and plans on making the ONA shows regional events, that will bring in big vendors like the United States Mint & Stacks Bowers to name a few. Our goal is to provide the best venues possible for our dealers and members. With that being said, next year is going to be even more amazing! We will still have the Glenpool ONA coin show August 28th and 29th. We look forward to seeing all of you there! Thank you all for being a part of this great club! If you have any questions please email me ravenhawkcoins@gmail.com and I will do my best to respond in a timely manner.

Why We Collect

Gary Parsons

The current volatility in the metals market has lit a fire in the coin market. The price for gold and silver is at record levels. They have come down some recently to $80 per ounce for silver and $5,000 per ounce for gold but they are still much higher than they were a year ago. How long this will last is anyone's guess but the economic situation regarding the weakness of currency's and overall uncertainty in the world is not likely to change soon. Therefore prices should remain high. The wholesale prices are very volatile as well therefore the market has changed. Therefore they are paying less than metal price for common date gold and silver coins. So don't get upset if you are a seller. You may not get the under lying metal value. The market has changed. We are just going to have to get used to it!!

What We Collect

By Tim O'Keefe

I have always had an affinity for junk boxes. Most old-time coin shops have one on the premises, and you can usually come across a few at any coin show. As a youngster with a meager allowance, the containers always held a collection of fascinating and affordable oddities. Most shop owners tossed their low-cost coins and tokens into the boxes, and these always became an unsuspecting treasure trove for me.

When Richard McPheeters (ONA LM-37) had his shop in Tulsa, I would spend Saturday mornings pouring through his junk boxes. When I was putting together my British Commonwealth collection around 2000, I was able to locate several serviceable pieces to add to my collection. For some reason foreign coins do not perform well in Oklahoma. I was able to take advantage of his "rejects" and actually picked up several lesser-known silver coins in the process. I was able to obtain an almost complete set of East Caribbean States aluminum coins, multiple pieces from British Ceylon and British India, and lots of filler coins to enhance the collection. One of the more unique items I came across was a counterfeit ¼ cent piece from Ceylon with the visage of George VI. This would have been attached to the era of 1937 to 1952, as it is undated. ¼ cents were last minted in 1904 for the country, and it probably cost more than that to produce.

Tom Dixon at Don's Coins in Tulsa used to have a large junk box on the front counter that I would check weekly during the early 2000s. One day I came in and he had a second box to go with it. He stated that it had come in that morning and he had not had time to inventory the contents. Knowing I like to dig, he allowed me to have first shot at the box with the caveat that anything I found would be $5 per item. I eagerly agreed to the terms. Within a few minutes I came across a coin that was obviously of British origin but unknown to me. Tom explained that it was an 1819 2 Lepta coin from the Ionian Islands.

The English had settled on several islands in the Mediterranean Sea to allow safe passage to the Far East. Wherever they set up business, local coinage would follow with British provenance. Napoleon had briefly been exiled to one of these islands in the early 1800s. Dixon went on to say that it was part of a two- coin set, as they were issued in 1819 and 1820. He said one rarely finds both coins together, and that the set was worth (at that time) about $30 to $35.

I happily latched onto the 1819 piece and resumed my search. Moments later I found another coin. I held it up for Tom. "Hey, is this the 1820 coin one never finds?". He came walking over to inspect the coin, and sure enough, it was the 1820 piece. At this point he shook his head and took the box away from me. I offered to pay the larger price, but he said a deal was a deal. However, I could not go any further on the contents until he had time to investigate the rest of the coins at his own pace.

While I was looking to complete my British Hong Kong collection, there was one coin that proved elusive. And it really should not have been that difficult to find. The silver coins of Victoria, Edward VII, and George V were relatively simple to locate. Most of the copper coins from 1865 to the1990s were plentiful and easy to obtain. But the copper-brass 1950 George VI ten cent piece was nowhere to be found.

I tried coin shops, coin shows, ebay, mail order ads- everything I could think of with no luck. They minted a ton of them and they are not expensive or rare. Then one day I wandered into Tulsa Gold & Silver and asked if they had a junk box. The gentleman behind the counter gave me an incredulous look. I told him what I was searching for and he told me they probably did not have the coin. I pressed on, saying I would be happy to go through such a box if they had one. He reluctantly led me to the back of the shop and he brought the store security guard with us. (I thought to myself- "All of this for a 50 cent coin?").

Anyway, I was committed to my goal, so moved forward. They brought the box out, and had the security guard scrutinize my search. And miracle of miracles, the 1950 Hong Kong 10 cent piece was there. For their trouble, I overpaid for the coin, but the collection was complete and the quest was over. Sometimes Irish stubbornness pays off.

I am currently looking for Oklahoma tokens, and junk boxes are a great source for finding these. At the Branson Show a few years back, Texas dealer Stephen Gipson (ONA # 1575) had his box at the front of his table. I came across an Oklahoma Numismatic Association token. These were the brainchild of Richard McPheeters during his time as ONA President. The tokens were giveaways to spur interest in the Association. This was the first one I had come across.

The late Johnny Satterlee (ONA # 1550) was one of the premier dealers in Oklahoma exonumia and I frequently found a few prizes to add to my accumulation from his wares. I am trying to hunt down any items from Oklahoma coin shops, clubs, and shows. The State used to have multiple coin clubs that issued either metal tokens or wooden nickels advertising their existence. I have traced down such items from Sand Springs, Bartlesville, Muskogee, Ponca City, Tulsa and Oklahoma City. I know there are more out there.

I do not believe wooden nickels are worthless. Vintage Oklahoma wooden nickels can be worth as much as $3 or more, depending on the subject matter. The Enid Coin Show has issued wooden nickels yearly since the 1990s and I have most of them (Thank you, Kim Pepe LM-255). If you can find a copy of RW Chadwick's "Oklahoma Exonumia", I suggest purchasing one, as it covers most of the wooden nickels, tokens, and tags of the State with values.

Sometimes history can be found in the most uncommon of places. These boxes can contain buttons, political pins, advertising miscellania, keys, and who knows what. If you are looking for small town mementos, this is a good place to look. I like the surprise of discovery. Take advantage of your next stroll through a coin show. You never know what you might find.

A New Website!

by James Collins

Since 1976, the Oklahoma Numismatic Association has been synonymous with coin and currency collecting in Oklahoma. But in a world that moves at the speed of a click, we knew it was time for a revolution. We didn't just want to update our website; we wanted to create an entirely new online experience.

Welcome to the new oklahomanumismatic.com and oklahomanumismatic.net. Designed after months of analyzing user feedback and industry trends, this launch marks a new chapter in how we connect with you. Whether you are a long-time follower or a newcomer looking for expert insights, our digital home has been completely reimagined to serve you better.

What's new with the website? A modern, intuitive interface. Say goodbye to cluttered navigation. The new site is built on a clean, responsive framework that makes finding information a breeze, whether you are on a desktop or on your phone.

ONA President, Raven Goyer, said, "Our goal with this new website was to create a platform that feels like a conversation. We wanted it be your one-stop for numismatic information in Oklahoma. It's faster, it's easy to navigate, and it's packed with information."

New features in the website include:

- A calendar featuring Oklahoma coin club meetings and coin shows
- Numismatic news articles
- ONA membership application
- Information on Oklahoma Coin Clubs
- Links to trusted ONA coin dealers
- Links to ONA's social media platforms, including Facebook and Instagram
- Digital back issues of Mint Luster

Several ONA members had a sneak peek at the site before it was launched and were impressed. Scott Thompson of First Capitol Coins in Guthrie said, "Looks great!! This should help us add a lot of new members." Todd Hourihan of Major Tucker's Coins echoed Thompson's remarks. He said, "The new website looks great, and it's very professional." The website went live on January 17, 2026, and had 1390 hits in its first month. Many are going there to subscribe to our digital newsletter and to learn about coin shows. If your club is having an event, please email me the information.

Another way you can help with the website is by providing content. I am looking for back issues of the Mint Luster. Specifically, I need copies from 2010 and back. If you have any of those issues, I would appreciate if you would let me borrow them. I will scan them and add them to our back issue library.

Also, if you would like to submit a numismatic article, please email it to me. Great numismatic or coin stories can originate from anywhere and anyone. Please email me articles or news.

I'd love to get your honest thoughts about the new website. Could you spare 5 minutes to explore it and share what's working, what's confusing, or any bugs you find? Your feedback helps us make the experience better for everyone. Once again, the site can be accessed at oklahomanumismatic.com or oklahomanumismatic.net. You can email me with your comments and suggestions at oklahomanumismatics@gmail.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

COLLECTING BOLIVIAN PROCLAMATION COINS

By Ron Burkard

While living in Peru in the early 1970's I bought my first Bolivian proclamation coin. I had no idea what it was: silver, about the size of a dime, holed, picturing a man with big beard, the "Hero of December." It had obviously circulated but there was no indication of monetary value. Coin? Medal?

Joining the Sociedad Numismatica de Peru, I soon learned that my little coin was from Bolivia. Finding additional similar coins in village markets, small jewelry stores, coin club auctions, etc., I had around fifty individual pieces by the time I left Peru and moved to India in 1975. Back then there were no catalogs, no information at all on these interesting coins that circulated in Bolivia in the 19th century and documented that country's history of revolutions, constitutions, wars and the flattery of those in power.

By 1980 I was living in New York. Stumbling on a large coin show one Saturday I enquired if any of the hundreds of dealers handled South American coins and was directed to the booth of Paul Bosco. Paul immediately reached under his counter and gave me a copy of his just-issued Numismatic Quarterly. Included therein was an article "The Silver Proclamation Coinage of The Bolivian Republic" along with photos of many of the coins themselves. Paul had been hired to sell nearly 1,500 of these coins that had been in a vault in a bank in Cochabamba, Bolivia for around one hundred years. On sorting the coins Paul was able to determine rarity by the number of similar coins in the hoard. He fortunately documented his findings.

Rushing home from the coin show, for the first time I was able to determine which of the coins I had in my collection and which I still needed as I worked to improve it with purchases from dealers like Lou Hudson, Freeman Craig, Al Almanzar, Ponterio, Dale Seppa and others.

In 1985 I found myself living in Bolivia, where my collection continued to grow with acquisitions from street-based coin dealers, coin shops and the local coin club. There I met fellow American George Lill III, with whom there was a shared interest in this fascinating series. In 1986 George's "Caudillism as Demonstrated by Bolivian Propaganda Coinage" was published by the Chicago Coin Club in its Perspectives in Numismatics.

After almost two years in Bolivia I ended up with several hundred coins and duplicates. George Lill unfortunately left us before completing what would have been a remarkable book. His research and knowledge have been lost, but thanks to Google his article is available on-line.

In 1987 LTC. David Burtnett, Jr., published 86 page Bolivian Proclamation Coinage. More than forty years later, it continues as a key reference to the series but is unfortunately out of print and difficult to obtain.

More recently, Bolivian Raul Tapia Bascope published Medallas Monetarias y Conmemorativas de Bolivia 1825 – 1925. In addition to the proclamation coins, it lists commemorative medals issued by year. While only one hundred copies were printed, this important reference can be found on-line.

As far as I know no other country's history has been documented with proclamation medals that ended up in circulation as coins. Viva Bolivia!

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE OKLAHOMA NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

Membership in the Oklahoma Numismatic Association is a privilege extended to those persons and organizations deemed worthy thereof and is not a matter of right. Such membership can be maintained only until the Board of Directors determines that the conduct of a member has been such that, in the best interest of the Association, such membership should be terminated.

For the guidance of its members, this Code of Ethics has been duly adopted by the Board of Directors under the authority vested in it by the Oklahoma Numismatic Association Bylaws. A breach thereof by any member reflects, directly or indirectly, upon all members. Such a breach shall be considered conduct prejudicial to the welfare of the Association and cause for action by the Board of Directors.

As a Member of the Oklahoma Numismatic Association:
I agree to support and be governed by the Oklahoma Numismatic Association Bylaws and such rules, policies and regulations as may be in force from time to time;

I agree to conduct myself so as to bring no reproach or discredit to the Association, or impair the prestige of membership therein;

I agree to base all of my dealings on the highest plane of justice, fairness and morality;

I agree to neither buy nor sell numismatic items of which the ownership is questionable;

I agree to conform to the accepted standards of dignified advertising;

I agree to immediate steps to correct any error I may make in any transaction;

I agree not to sell, exhibit, produce nor advertise counterfeits, copies, restrikes and/or reproductions of any numismatic items if their nature is not clearly indicated by the word “counterfeit:, “copy”, “restrike”, “reproduction” incused in the metal or printed on the paper thereof, with the exception of items generally accepted by numismatists and not in any way misrepresented as genuine;

I agree to represent a numismatic item to be genuine only when, to the best of my knowledge and belief, it is authentic;

I agree to fulfill all contracts made by me, either orally or written, to make prompt payments upon delivery, and to return immediately any item that is not satisfactory;

I agree to give aid to members in their quest for numismatic knowledge.
